

Eastern Screech Owl Activity Sheet

Marvin is with us because of an eye injury. Although he can fly just fine, his vision is limited and that makes it difficult to hunt prey.

Did You Know

Screech Owls come in two different color morphs, known as "red phase" and "gray phase". The coloration of their feathers helps them blend into the bark on trees!

Screech Owls can be found right here in Massachusetts, although you're more likely to hear one than to see one. Their call sounds a little bit like a shrill horse whinny.

Screech owls vary in weight from about 130 grams to 220 grams. Our screech owl usually weighs around 145 grams, which is the same weight as a baseball!
